

For this sprint, we began with 50-hour estimates. The graph demonstrates a consistent workload completed every day with peaks over the weekends and troughs prior to the C01 exam.

The velocity for this sprint is 26, down from the previous sprint's velocity of 31. This was due to the fact that we had finished most of the application's core features and were only left with minor features and adjustments. As a result, the overall number of story points is lower than it was in the previous sprint.
